WELFARE GROUP PROBES CHILD LABOR ISSUES

The problem of the child worker was aired Monday night at the November meeting of the Adams county Welfare council held in the DPA offices on North Washington street, with speakers and council members finding "the labor laws governing the work in some instances stringent where they should be lenient and in some cases lenient where they should be more stringent."

Dr. Lloyd C. Keefe, Gettysburg superintendent of schools and Edgar A. Crouse, head of the local Pennsylvania State Employment Service office, were the two principal speakers, outlining the provisions of the child labor laws and citing some of the problems caused by the laws.

Need Work Permits

They pointed out that every youngster up to 18 must have a work permit when engaged in labor outside his own home whether that work be after school hours, or during summer vacations. They also added that to a large extent the law is forgotten about, particularly in agriculture—but added that industry and business establishments have for the most part remembered the law for their own protection.

As an example, they pointed out a person under 18 employed in a business, if injured, would not be eligible for workmen's compensation without a permit to work. And the employer might find himself liable not only for the amount that would be given under workmen's compensation but also for any additional amount which the parents might seek.

RE-DEDICATION WEEK OBSERVED BY LOCAL CLUBS

Gettysburg's three service clubs — Rotarians, Lions and Soroptimists — met together Monday evening at the Hotel Gettysburg for their part in the local observance of Re-dedication Week in preparation for the coming of the Freedom Train on Friday.

Attorney Donald M. Swope, chairman of the local Freedom Train committee, presided during the evening with 153 club members and guests in attendance.

Guest speaker for the occasion was State Senator E. Paul Burkholder, Dover, Del., a former Rotary district governor.

Cites Freedoms

Stressing the importance of voluntary service to communities and mankind in general as being among the most worthwhile acts a man can perform in a lifetime, the speaker pointed out that service clubs could not meet freely as they do without the constitution-guaranteed freedoms to which attention is being called this week.

"In some foreign countries, you could not have had this meeting without having secured a permit from the police and there would have to be a government official here to watch everything that was done and said," he continued. "Here we have the right of peaceful assembly, the right of free speech and the freedom of the press so that we may meet as we please, say what we want and do what we please, short of treason."

Referring to the recent election, he observed: "Many people did not expect the results but no one wanted to shoot anyone else and we didn't have a revolution. We accepted the verdict of the ballots and went about our work. As long as America can do that, there need be no fear of Communism."

Guests Introduced

Senator Burkholder spoke of the importance of service clubs serving their communities to the best of the abilities of their members and contrasted the records of Rotary clubs in Dover and Georgetown, Del. "In difference, indecision and intolerance," he said.

Gettysburg will have a new street sweeper this week, in time to give the borough a thorough cleanup before the arrival of the Freedom Train. Councilman L. D. Shealer, chairman of the borough council's highway committee, announced today, following the purchase of the new sweeper at a special meeting of the council in the engine house Monday night.

The special meeting was called to act on bids for the sweeper, a new automobile for the police department, and the installation of new traffic lights. Council voted to buy the police car, but rejected the lone bid received November 1 for the traffic lights and directed that new specifications be drawn up.

To Cost $7,025

Council voted to purchase a South Bend Gutter Snipe street sweeper from the Highway Supply company of Harrisburg for $7,025. Immediate delivery was promised, and Councilman Shealer said this morning that the sweeper would arrive in Gettysburg on Thursday.

Streets in the borough outside the metered area will be cleaned on Thursday, Shealer said. The cleanup in the business district will start at 2 o'clock Friday morning and warning must be off the streets in the metered area by that hour. Police will enforce the ordinance prohibiting parking between 2 a. m. and 6 a. m.

Two bids were received by council for a sweeper, but Attorney Eugene V. Bullett, borough solicitor, ruled that the bid for an Elgin sweeper was not properly submitted and could not be considered. The Elgin bid was received by telegram November 1, supplemented by a mailed confirmation later. Purchase of the Gutter Snipe sweeper was recommended by the highway committee.

Buy New Ford

Council voted to buy a new Ford eight-cylinder automobile from the Adams County Motors for $1,000 and the old car. A federal tax of $95.90 which the borough must pay, can be remitted on application by the borough after making the net cost of the car $904.10. Total price of the new car, with accessories, is $1,722.10. The Adams County Motors offered an allowance of $722.10 for the car now in use.

The bid for the traffic light installation was submitted by the Swam Electric company, Hanover, for Crouse Hind traffic lights, with underground wiring. Its bid was $17,070, plus $1,825 for a light at Carlisle street and Lincoln avenue if one is installed. The state has not approved a light for this intersection.

Council learned Monday night from Mr. Swam that overhead wiring for the traffic signals would save the borough approximately $300 for several of the intersections where lights are planned. Mr. Swam said that the cost of excavating and re-filling after installation of the underground wires would be more than $6,000. Money could be saved by using a four-inch pipe for light (Please Turn To Page 4)

MAJOR VICTORY OVER REDS NEW CHINESE CLAIM

Nanking, Nov. 16 (P)—The Chinese government claimed a major victory on the Suowu front tonight to climax a confused day which still left the final outcome of the battle for the approach to Nanking in doubt.

Pro-government newspaper plastered their buildings with red posters and exploded firecrackers to call attention to placards announcing the Communists had been routed northeast of Suowu and were withdrawing northeastward.

That news, circulated by the defense ministry's official military news agency, was in direct contrast to the generally accepted reports from other sources that the government control of the whole Suowu area was tottering.

Warned To Get Out

The U. S. embassy warned some 7,000 Americans to get out of China now or risk "hazardous conditions."

Government Spokesman Hollington Tong denied reports Suowu had fallen or even was threatened with Red capture. He told the Associated Press: "The city is firmly in our hands and the Reds are withdrawing to the northeastward."

Neutral observers, however, continued to eye the reports with considerable reserve and plans went ahead for evacuation of American civilians and some others.

The government's return to the regular rationing of rice has considerably eased the food problem. A drastic shortage of gold yuan has forced Nanking's banks to sharply limit withdrawals.

Victory Claims

Here are the victory claims made by military news agency:

1. Nine of Red Gen. Chen Yi's columns are retreating toward Talerchuan, northeast of Suowu, after a defeat by Gen. Huang Po-tao's Seventh Army Corps, which fought its way out of an encirclement with the aid of mechanized troops under Col. Chiang Wei-kuo, the president's youngest son.

2. Four Red columns attempting to overwhelm Suhsien have been encircled by government troops.

3. Communist remnants are retreating eastward from Suowu along the 25-mile rail line to Payachi.

Acting under martial law, Nanking's headquarters garrison tightened its grip on the capital's activities. In a wave of arrests, purportedly against subversive elements, 83 persons were jailed last night, including six Chinese newspaper reporters and editors.

Diplomats Meet

U. S. embassy dependents are being evacuated immediately. The embassy said the majority would go to Manila to await clarification of the Chinese situation.

Jacques Meyer, French ambassador and dean of the diplomatic corps, called a meeting of the heads of all missions in Nanking to discuss measures for the safety of diplomatic personnel and the possibility of China moving its capital.

The diplomatic corps is considering making a formal request to the Chinese government as to future plans. The meeting was the first of the diplomatic corps since the emergency arose.

Rival claims belauded what was happening at Suowu, the guardian base 200 miles north of Nanking.

The Communist radio asserted Red troops had "completely isolated" Suowu and that they had taken Suhsien, 50 miles south. The government's version was that it still held Suhsien and, in fact, the Communists were withdrawing from the northern Suowu front.

Luxurious Mountain Home Is Burned

A luxuriously furnished seven room house, a bath and several out-buildings sprawled over several acres on South Mountain in Franklin county, near Mt. Alto, owned by Benjamin F. Biershing, a former retired Hagerstown contractor, burned to the ground early Monday entailing a loss estimated at approximately $20,000.

The fire destroyed the property just a week to the day after a crudely written note was slipped under the front door stating: "Get out of the mountain or we'll burn you out." The fire apparently started in all of the buildings at the same time, according to witnesses who said the blaze started around 2 a. m.

WELFARE GROUP

the child labor laws serve a good purpose—at the same time, it was felt that some revisions might be made in the laws, particularly one regulation which prohibits the issuance of a summer work permit which would permit a youngster to work throughout the summer at various jobs on one permit. Now, if a child works on a job then leaves for another, he must go through the procedure of forms and physical examinations in order to obtain a permit for the other job.

While the law frowns on youngsters under 14 doing any kind of work other than work that might be given them by their parents in their own homes, many under 14 are employed in agriculture throughout the county. Crouse pointed out: "If youngsters could not work in the bean fields then there would be a lot of beans that would not be picked." He added that youngsters under 14 working in the bean fields are under supervision of their parents and the parents receive the pay for any work the youngsters might do, since farmers, obeying the law, would not hire the children.

The next meeting of the council will be held the third Monday in January, Mrs. Rasmus Saby, who presided at the meeting, announced.

PUBLIC AID IN COUNTY LOWER, REPORT SHOWS

Public assistance in Adams county is down slightly from last month and a little higher than it was on November 1, 1947, the monthly report of the case load presented Monday night at the regular meeting of the directors of the Adams County Assistance board disclosed. The session was held in the DPA office, North Washington street.

There were 723 cases on the rolls as of November 1, as compared to 729 as of the first of October and 708 as of November 1, 1947. While the total number of cases has increased slightly over a year ago the number of general assistance cases has dropped from 63 on November 1, 1947, to 55 at the present time. The number, however, is two more than the 53 recorded on October 1.

452 Old Age Cases

Old Age assistance was granted in 452 cases as of November 1 as compared to 455 cases on October 1 and 446 on November 1 a year ago; blind pensions were given to 95 persons on November 1 as compared to 97 in October and 92 on the comparable date a year ago. There were 121 cases of aid to dependent children, compared to 124 in October and 107 last November.

Reports on the 39th annual Welfare Conference, held in Scranton November 2-5 were presented by Mrs. Henry T. Bream, Miss Ethel Sanders and J. D. Miller, the president of the board. Mrs. Bream attended an institute on brief service in which methods were outlined by which relief recipients could be given quickly the aid they need to get back on their own financial feet as soon as possible. The aim of the welfare agencies it was pointed out, Mrs. Bream said, is not to give charity, but to aid the recipient in resuming his role as a self-supporting citizen.

Clerical Institute

Miss Sanders reported on a clerical institute and Mr. Miller reported on meetings in which changes in assistance during the past 18 years were outlined.

Board members Miller and Harold H. Reuning reported on an inter-county board meeting held at Allenberry Inn October 25 for members of the Berks, Fulton, Cumberland and Adams boards of assistance.

Brothers Fined As Unlicensed Drivers

Two brothers, each driving trucks loaded with what was described by the state police of the Gettysburg sub-station as tin cans and junk, were found to be operating their vehicles without operators' licenses, when one of the brothers was stopped for having a "leaking" load.

Irvin Spacht, Harrisburg R. 2, was stopped on the Gettysburg-Harrisburg road between Gettysburg and York Springs, because, police said, some of the "junk" was falling from his truck onto the highway. Harold R. Spacht, same address, also stopped his truck.

Irvin later paid $10 and costs to Justice of the Peace Elton H. Myers, Idaville, on the leaking load charge, and another $10 and costs because he had no driver's license. His brother was also fined $10 and costs for no license.

SEEK MEN FOR THROWING ACID

Philadelphia, Nov. 16 (P)—Police today were seeking two men they said threw acid in the face of a 42-year-old widow who is one of the claimants for a $92,800 cache found in a South Philadelphia cellar.

Mrs. Anna Theresa Hilop told police yesterday two men accosted her in the basement of a North Philadelphia apartment house. She could give no reason for the attack, police said.

The $92,800 was found on March 15, 1947, by Benjamin Lieberman, a milk company bookkeeper, in the basement of his home.

Mrs. Hilop based her claim on the assertion that the money was hidden in the cellar by her husband, Anthony J. Hilop, three days before he was found shot to death on June 8, 1932.

The courts have ruled the money should revert to the Commonwealth through escheat. An appeal on that ruling is pending before the Pennsylvania Supreme Court.

Under the escheat process, the money would revert to the Commonwealth on the grounds that no one had produced proof of lawful ownership.

Held For Having Stolen Property

Frank Breckenridge, 36, colored, of 215 West High street, is in the Adams county jail in default of $500 bail after signing a plea of guilty late Monday afternoon to a charge of receiving stolen property, before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore.

Breckenridge is alleged by borough police to have had cigarettes and candy in his possession which police charge were stolen from the Sweetland on November 10. A juvenile, charged with taking 20 cartons of cigarettes and four cartons of candy bars, was certified to juvenile court and released in the custody of his parents.

The West High street man was held for court after signing a statement admitting that he had a carton of cigarettes and some candy stolen at the Sweetland. He denied, however, that he was implicated in the actual theft.

VAN BUREN NEAR RECORD AS TOP GROUND GAINER

Philadelphia, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Philadelphia Eagles' Steve Van Buren apparently is record-bound again.

The durable halfback has moved out in front among National football league ground-gainers, latest statistics showed today. Van Buren, in 153 carrying attempts, has gained 653 yards or 4.4 per try.

Against the lowly Boston Yanks Sunday, Van Buren gained 137 yards. For eight games, he's only 48 yards behind his record-breaking performance last year when he gained a season's total of 1,008 yards.

Another Eagle's Record
The Eagles' great quarterback-passer Tommy Thompson turned sharp-shooter against the Yanks, heaving four touchdowns to become the NFL's leading aerialist. Standings are computed on the inverse grading system by Statistician Joe Labrum.

Thompson has chucked 15 TD passes, one more than the Washington Redskins' Sammy Baugh. Another Eagle star, Joe Muma, continues to dominate the punting department. He's booted 39 an average distance of 47.5 yards with his longest kick traveling 82 yards. Boston's Roy Zimmerman is second with an average of 43.4 yards for 51 punts.

The league's ace pass stealer is Washington's Dan Sandifer. He's stolen 11 this season to tie a record set by Baugh in 1943. Pittsburgh's Tony Compagno and the Chicago Bears' Johnny Lujack are tied with seven interceptions.

BULLET COACH BACKS PRESENT GRID SUB RULE

Philadelphia, Nov. 16 (AP)—"Let's keep this substitution rule," Coach "Hen" Bream of Gettysburg college said Monday. "It gives more kids the chance to play football."

Bream, who has been coaching football and basketball teams at Gettysburg for 23 years, spoke at the weekly Maxwell club luncheon and went on the record strongly in favor of the much-discussed rule allowing free use of subs.

"We started this season with a squad of 43 men. We still have 40," said Bream. "The three others are out with injuries."

"And the fact that we haven't lost any players is a direct result of the rule on substitutions."

Bream explained it is his belief that football should be made a part of the lives of as many collegians as possible.

"Why, some kids will come out for a team and go to practice every day just in hopes of getting in for one play. That's something they'll be able to tell their children about," Bream went on, adding: "And any rule that adds to their chances of getting in a game is a good rule."

Rejects Favoritism
The veteran Gettysburg coach said he doesn't believe the rule favors colleges with larger squads over those with a smaller number of players.

"The small schools can develop the right men for the right spot just as well as the big schools."

He pointed to his quarterback, Ross Sachs, one of the top passers in smaller college ranks. "We never let him play for one minute on defense," Bream said. "And that's one of the big reasons why he's so good as a passer. He can devote his full attention and aptitude to offense."

Dr. Millard E. Gladfelter, vice president of Temple university and a graduate of Gettysburg college, was also a speaker. Three tables of Gettysburg alumni were present at the luncheon including C. William Duncan, formerly of Gettysburg.

Ask Curtailment Of Video On Majors

York, Pa., Nov. 16 (AP)—The Interstate Baseball league will propose a curtailment of television baseball broadcasts to minor league cities when the National Baseball Association meets in Minneapolis early next month.

The league's directors, in a meeting here yesterday, voted to instruct Gerry Nugent, league president, to confer with the association's radio and television committee in an attempt to iron out the problem.

Arthur Rontzong, Allentown club president, was elected vice president of the league, succeeding William McKeechie, Jr.

The league directors will hold their next meeting at Lancaster, November 29. After the meeting, the Harrisburg Senators announced that Veteran Les Bell will again manage the Capitol City team next year. Harvey Ensminger was also re-elected president of the club. Bell has been manager of the Senators during five of their six years in the loop.

Buffalo Iceman Leads In Scoring

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Murdo Mac Kay scored three goals and made two assists in Buffalo's record-smashing 16-4 victory over Philadelphia Sunday night to take the individual scoring lead in the American Hockey League.

Official league statistics show Mac Kay with 12 goals and 20 assists for a total of 32 points in 16 games played. This puts him six points ahead of Carl Liscombe of Providence, who has been the pace setter since the start of the season. Liscombe has 26 points, followed by Sid Smith of Pittsburgh with 25.

Providence has a long lead in the eastern half of the race with ten victories, four defeats and one tie for 21 points. Hershey is second with 13 points.

The western division race is a close affair with only three points separating the three leaders. St. Louis has 22, Pittsburgh 21 and Indianapolis 19.

RAY ROBINSON WINS DECISION

Philadelphia, Nov. 16 (AP)—Ray (Sugar) Robinson didn't look last night like the man Joe Louis recently called "pound for pound, the greatest fighting machine in the ring today."

The Harlem dandy won a unanimous 10-round non-title decision over undersized Bobby Lee of Baltimore as many in the arena crowd of 4,792 cried "draw" at the fight's end.

The welterweight champion—weighing in at 154—obviously was far from the devastating fighting man who won the title two years ago from Tommy Bell.

He was slow and seemingly satisfied to allow the energetic Lee—beaten in his last three bouts—to carry the fight. The squat 148-pound Baltimore fighter battered the champion about the body with sharp rights and lefts. Occasionally he beat Robinson to the punch.

But even with an off par performance Robinson received a seven to three verdict from Referee Charley Daggert; a six and four win off the card of Judge Harry Lasky and a 6-2-2 decision from Judge Leo Costello. The Associated Press agreed with Lasky's 6-4 verdict.

May Arrange Title Game For Teachers

Bloomington, Pa., Nov. 16 (AP)—The Bloomington football team set a meeting for today to decide whether to challenge California to a game for the State Teacher College championship in the wake of a charge that California is "nothing more than a Penn State football farm."

Bloomington and California ended their seasons with identical records of six victories and no defeats to share the title in the mythical Teacher College conference.

But John A. Hoch, Bloomington athletic director and assistant coach, laid claim to the championship, stating that California's Vulcans should not be rated co-champion because it is "made up entirely of Penn State freshmen."

"If California gets recognition with the other teacher colleges with its Penn state freshman team," Hoch said, "that gives the other teachers' schools a freshman rating. And that shouldn't be. We have regular four-year programs."

MICHIGAN TOP TEAM IN POLL

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—With only one more game to play, Michigan has taken a commanding lead in the race to be named the best football team of the year.

The Wolverines moved more than 200 points ahead of runner-up Notre Dame by grabbing 130 first-place votes in the weekly Associated Press poll of football writers and broadcasters.

They had a total of 1,952 points compared with 1,721 for the Irish, who led at the end of the regular season vote last year.

Army is in third place with 1,426 and California in fourth with 1,288. North Carolina, with 1,034, climbed from sixth to fifth on the strength of its smashing victory over Maryland.

Completing the first ten, in order, are Penn State, Northwestern, Oklahoma, Clemson and Southern Methodist.

The mighty men of Michigan grew in prestige by swamping Indiana, 54-0, Saturday while their main challengers, Notre Dame and Army, were shouldering through in the hardest way. The Irish had to rally late to beat out Northwestern, 12-7, while the Cadets won in the last 30 seconds over Pennsylvania, 26-20.

The Young Men's Christian Association was founded in London in 1844 by George Williams and a group of employees of a drapery firm.

Bullet Grid Squad Presented Shirts

Although the Gettysburg college football team was treated roughly by the St. Lawrence university team on the field at Kingston, N. Y., the Bullet squad received royal treatment on the week-end trip, thanks to Clarence S. Rowland, father of two Gettysburg alumni.

Mr. Rowland, a shirt manufacturer, presented each of the squad members, managers and coaching staff with a shirt. On Friday evening the squad was his guest at a theatre party. During the stay at the Peter Stuyvesant hotel at Kingston, Mr. Rowland footed the bill for five meals and two nights of lodging. The Saturday evening dinner was open to all Gettysburg alumni free of charge.

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—W. A. (Bill) Alexander, Georgia Tech athletic director, is winner of the 1948 National Touchdown club award as the person who has done the most for football over a long period of years.

The club made the announcement yesterday at the weekly meeting of New York football writers.

Last year's award went to Glenn S. (Pop) Warner. Others to receive the honor have been Coach Lou Little of Columbia and the Veteran Alonzo A. Stagg, now associate coach at Susquehanna.

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Maybe it's the inflation, maybe not—but college football is headed for its greatest offensive year in history.

When the curtain rings down in the next few weeks, the campaign will have produced the highest scores, most touchdowns, most passes and most total yards of any season since the sport was introduced the middle of the last century.

At the rate they're going, the major college teams are going to rack up 2,000 points more than last year, which was the best scoring season on record.

Pittsburgh, Nov. 16 (AP)—Officials of the National Football league, at an unannounced meeting yesterday, picked sites for possible division playoffs. If the Chicago Bears and the Chicago Cardinals tie, they will meet at Wrigley Field. If there is an eastern division tie, the Philadelphia Eagles and the Washington Redskins will clash at Philadelphia.

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—Bob Black of Rhode Island State, winner of the IC4A Cross Country championship for two years in a row, has set his sights on the NCAA title next Monday at East Lansing, Mich.

A 200-yard victor over runnerup Horace Ashenfelter of Penn State yesterday at Van Cortlandt Park, the lean runner from North Attleboro, Mass., probably will be favored in the western meet.

Michigan State won the team competition with a low total of 52 points. Penn State was second with 125, Army third with 140.

Ezzard Charles Winner By Kayo

Cincinnati, Nov. 16 (AP)—Ezzard Charles went right out and flattened a 200-pound heavyweight last night just a few hours after Joe Louis said the Cincinnati should "stay among the light heavies."

Charles, Cincinnati's 178-pound hope for the world's heavyweight boxing championship, needed seven rounds to put Walter Hafer of Maysville, Ky., away but he was punching sharply and had Hafer down four times before the knockout wallop.

A crowd of 4,843 paid $20,577.40 to see the fight in the Music Hall arena.

Earlier in the day Louis had said in Cleveland that he once felt Charles looked like the "most dangerous" of the heavyweight contenders but that he has changed his mind.

Athletics Buy Chisox Fielder

Chicago, Nov. 16 (AP)—Taft Wright, 35-year-old outfielder who has been with the Chicago White Sox since 1940, has been sold to the Philadelphia Athletics for an undisclosed sum.

Frank Lane, new Sox general manager, said the deal was a forerunner of other transactions the Sox have pending with the A's. A pitcher is expected as part payment for Wright.

Wright has a seven-year major league batting mark of .315. In 1947 he notched .324 for the White Sox but slumped to .279 last season.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—The appointment of Red Rolfe as Detroit Tigers' manager probably will mean a heck of a lot to the rookies on a ball club which will have to put a lot of faith in its rookies. . . . Red, probably the only guy who ever graduated from college coaching to a big league management, is a real teacher of baseball. . . . If you want proof, the kids who started under him at Yale went on to reach the finals of the N.C.A.A. baseball tournament two years in a row and several of them signed pro contracts last spring. . . . Joe Louis plans to open a school in Chicago next month to teach kids to become automobile mechanics. Joe won't do the teaching himself, although he knows what it's like to do heavy lifting around an auto factory.

STATISTICAL DEPT.

While the fans are arguing Michigan vs. Notre Dame as the top football team once more, how about a look at these figures? . . . Michigan in eight games, has met four teams that have lost a total of three games and tied one apart from their meetings with the Wolverines. . . . Notre Dame's top four rivals, on a similar basis of figuring, have lost eight and tied one. . . . and Army has forced a quartet that shows only three other losses. . . . statistics don't lie, of course, but these don't prove any more than comparative scores.

A KICK OUT OF IT

It says here that Harrell "Rip" Collins, Louisiana State's fine punter, was taking some kicking practice the other day when a team manager informed him he had just become the father of a 7½ pound son. . . . Collins had the ball in his hands and, to blow off steam, he rammed his toe into the piskin. . . . it traveled 87 yards and went out of bounds on the three-yard line. . . . it also says here that Coach Gaynell Tinsley would like to have Collins receive a similar message every Saturday—preferably on fourth down.

Billy Conn Hits Comeback Trail

Macon, Ga., Nov. 16 (AP)—Billy Conn, who lost two chances at Joe Louis' heavyweight crown, started a comeback jaunt last night when he scored a technical knockout over gauding Mike O'Dowd of New York in the ninth round of a scheduled ten-rounder here.

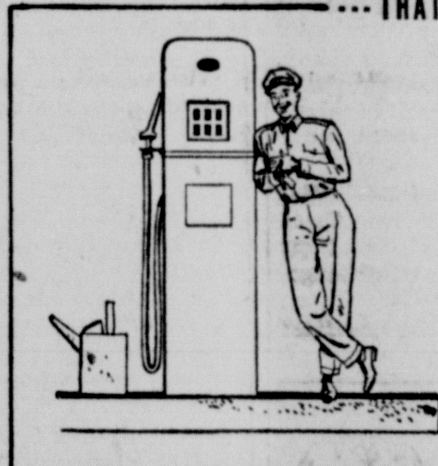

The handsome Pittsburgher floored O'Dowd three times in the eighth round, and hardly worked up a sweat in doing it.

In the ninth, Conn patted a hard right on the New Yorker's jaw and O'Dowd went down for the count of nine. He was unable to defend himself when he staggered to his feet, and Referee Jackie Cranford stopped the bout. The round had gone a minute and a half.

Conn weighed 190, O'Dowd, 201½.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

TREES

For hours, during this Autumn day, I have sat in my library and looked out upon the falling golden leaves, as they have given up their Summer nest in the branches and tumbled noisily to the earth. Some of the branches are now nearly bare—but others, the maples and the oaks, are still in all their matchless glow of colorful beauty, entire areas resembling flame-like tapestries on exhibition.

Once I walked out underneath these towering trees, and looked up to where they seemed to stand arm in arm, as their great branches reached all about. And each year they have grown taller—ever reaching for the maximum of sunlight. There are some maples that I set out years ago, when they were hardly taller than I am, but which today tower to thirty feet or more and which have returned their initial investment times over—and they will be blessing others long after these eyes have ceased to see.

Of all the creations in nature, to me, trees seem the most human. They almost talk to me, no matter where they are contacted. Stevenson said that "trees are the most civil society." I think so, too. And there is such nobility about them. It is worth a trip to the Pacific Coast just to see those great sequoias in California. There are those there which stood in their youth when Christ was born.

Craftsmen have fashioned various kinds of wood that are works of art, indescribably beautiful, but trees in their natural state in the forest I like best to see, for there they seem like friends. There they furnish shade and protection to man, beast and bird, and give forth color and perfume that no artisan could fashion or create.

These trees take their punishment as wards of Nature, singing in the wind and rain, and celebrating the seasons in their turn, self-renewing their beauty each year, un-mindful of time, their great roots tightening their grasp into Mother Earth, while their leafy heads seek the sunlight.

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Your Health"

BALLADE OF LIFE

Some sing the lyrics of despair,
Recall the loss; forget the gain;
Bewail the griefs that all must bear,
Find less of comfort here than pain

And less of sunshine than of rain.
From birth until life's course is run.
But, often as we all complain,
Most of us have a lot of fun.

The pessimistic few declare
That every hope for good is vain,
That surely when the skies are fair
The clouds will soon return again;

That happy hours can't long remain.
Towards suffering journeys every one,
But, even missing glory's train,
Most of us have a lot of fun.

"No good food on the bill-of-fare!
No dish or glass without a stain!
Anguish and misery everywhere,
The tares much thicker than the grain!

Always the moon must rise to wane."
'Tis thus the tales of woe are spun.
But, notwithstanding stress and strain,
Most of us have a lot of fun.

L'ENVOI

Son, of the gloomy crowd beware
And all their dismal preachment shun.
In spite of much that seems unfair,
Most of us have a lot of fun!

SCRIBE WRITES LETTER TO NEW ENGLISH PRINCE

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Nov. 16 (AP)—A letter to the Prince of Edinburgh: As one human-being to another, welcome to the world. I wish you a long and happy life.

I wouldn't know what a prince—maybe some day a king—needs to make him happy. In one case it might be love, as it was with your uncle, Edward VIII, who gave up being a king to marry Mrs. Wallis Warfield Simpson.

Another man might be happy just being mild and quiet and raising a family in a warm house, like your grandfather, the present king, George VI.

He'll Need Luck

Maybe you'll be king of England some day. But you may have to live a long time before you make it. And, without wanting to be gloomy, I think you'll need an awful lot of luck to make it at all.

I'll tell you why I say those things. Your mother is a very young woman and her father, the king, your grandfather, is still a man in early middle age.

As for the luck you'll need—Right now, while you're still a baby, kings and queens are getting as much out of date as high-buttoned shoes. Only a few are left.

Nice To Kings Now

Some times I see the pictures of ex-kings and ex-queens in the papers. They look as if they couldn't believe what has happened to them. The world has grown up, and they didn't, and the world closed the book on them and threw the book away. The world is very real now.

The English people are nice to their kings now, but that's because they are not afraid of them any more. Once they were. In fact, not being afraid of their kings now, the English people have grown fond of them. They like your grandfather, he present king, so much that they pay him $1,640,000 a year just to have him around to do a few things. Your grandfather doesn't have much to do. Sign a few papers, make a few speeches his ministers prepare for him, have his picture taken looking twiced, and just stay around so that in time of trouble the English people can rally around him like they'd rally around a flag.

Half World Rejoiced

So if you finally make it as king, you ought to have a quiet life, with good pay and only an occasional job to do.

That is, if you make it—Some time go back and read the news stories that bubbled out of London Sunday night when you were born to Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh.

The stories were sort of breathless, but tucked away in them was something that indicates you'll need luck. They said half the world rejoiced at your birth. That was the half that is friendly to England. What of the other half?

Not A Sure Thing

For one thing, there's a terrible war in China. It may change the history of Asia and, in time, the world, too. The 400,000,000 struggling Chinese, who have plenty of babies, can't be expected to clap hands because another one was born in London.

And the 350,000,000 people of India—wracked with hunger and poverty and loaded down with babies—wouldn't dance in the dusty roads just because you came along.

And I can't believe your arrival caused a single slip in the heartbeat of the Kremlin men or their friends in the other Communist countries of Europe. They despise kings. More than that. They're in a long, slow, steady struggle to take over the world. If they ever do, it will include you, too.

As I said, I wish you a happy life. But from what I can see of the future, I wouldn't bet on it.

Says State Will Require Sales Tax

Oil City, Pa., Nov. 16 (AP)—Senator Rowland B. Mahany of Titusville, said last night he believes the state will have to adopt a sales tax.

"Sooner or later the state of Pennsylvania will adopt a sales tax to defray the cost of education, and until it does we are going to have trouble in obtaining sufficient funds to finance the type of school system we should have," Mahany said in a speech at a legislative dinner.

The dinner, sponsored by the State Chamber of Commerce, attracted business leaders from northwestern Pennsylvania and legislators from Crawford, Erie, Mercer and Venango counties.

COUNTY LOSES TWO BRIDGES

Mount Holly, N. J., Nov. 16 (AP)—Burlington county has lost its bridges.

In a surprise move yesterday, Superior Court Judge Robert V. Kinkead stripped the county of control over the two Delaware River bridges it bought for $12,400,000. Kinkead shifted authority to a custodial receiver.

Named as receiver, with full administrative powers, was Mark A. Sullivan of Jersey City, a former judge of the court of Errors and Appeals. W. Thomas McGann, a Moorestown lawyer, was appointed co-receiver and authorized to counter-sign all checks drawn on funds of both spans.

Kinkead designated the First National bank of Riverside and the Burlington City Loan and Trust company as depositors for bridge receiver.

Under the judge's order, one of Sullivan's first tasks as receiver will be to restore former toll charges of 35 cents on the Tacony-Palmyra and 30 cents on the Burlington Bristol. Tolls on both bridges were reduced to 25 cents by the newly-created Burlington Bridge commission.

Restoration of former tolls was seen as an important victory for the state, which is seeking to have the bridge purchase set aside. Before the county scooped up the spans October 22, New Jersey had considered buying them for $4,900,000 under condemnation procedure.

standards instead of the ornamental type quoted in the bid.

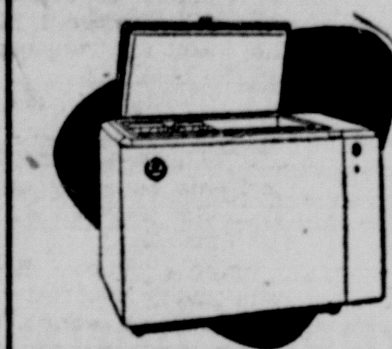

New Specifications
Borough Engineer LeRoy H. Winebrenner and the safety committee were directed to draw up new specifications and submit them at the next regular council meeting on December 6, when council will re-advertise for bids.

Mr. Swam said that since submitting his bid he had received notification that some of the material to be used had gone up 10 per cent in price, and a representative for Crouse Hind said that prices quoted could not be guaranteed for more than 30 days.

A suggestion was made to council by Winebrenner that the parking meter ordinance be amended so that a number of meters on Carlisle and York streets could be removed and installed on the south side of West Middle street. He said the meters in question were taking in very little money. He recommended that meters eventually be installed on East and West Middle streets, North and South Stratton streets and North and South Washington streets. No action was taken on the recommendations.

HARRIMAN MAY GET PROMOTION FROM TRUMAN

By STERLING F. GREEN

Washington, Nov. 16 (AP)—Speculation mounted today that W. Averell Harriman, the Marshall Plan ambassador-at-large, may be dealt a more potent hand in President Truman's new term.

Lower echelons of the economic cooperation administration buzzed with reports that Harriman, a multimillionaire and staunch Democratic party supporter, might:

1. Replace Republican Paul G. Hoffman as ECA administrator. Harriman, as ECA's special representative in Europe, now is No. 2 man in the recovery agency.

2. Or as rumored previously, become secretary of state if and when George C. Marshall steps down as he has indicated he wishes to do. The State department, with Mr. Truman's backing, could make its influence felt in the otherwise independent Marshall Plan operations.

Hoffman's Record Good
Harriman, Washington-bound from Paris ECA headquarters, was due to arrive today.

One subordinate official was offering to bet that by the end of January—that is, after Mr. Truman's inauguration—Harriman "will be running ECA, in name or in fact."

Working against that theory, however, is an apparently widespread feeling on Capitol Hill that the European recovery effort has been operating satisfactorily under Hoffman's leadership.

Nevertheless, a sharp Presidential rebuff to Hoffman came to light yesterday.

Mr. Truman, it was learned, has suggested to Hoffman that he reverse one of his basic policy decisions—a two-and-a-half month order ending government grain buying on December 1 and returning the wheat and corn export trade to private channels.

Split on Policy
Mr. Truman thus apparently aligned himself against Hoffman and with his Secretary of Agriculture, Charles F. Brannan, a stalwart campaign helper.

Brannan opposed Hoffman's private-trading plan last August, when the proposal was a behind-the-scenes issue. Brannan felt that his Commodities Credit Corporation (CCC) should continue for a longer time to buy grain and sell it to the Marshall Plan countries, which pay for it with ECA dollars. Among his contentions were that the government could prevent traffic jams around U. S. ports by spreading the shipments, rather than funneling them through ports with the lower handling charges.

Hoffman argued that the foreign assistance act requires the use of private trade channels whenever practicable. He won the decision then, after agreeing to delay the changeover until December 1. His order was announced on September 1.

Ingenuity Gets New Furnace For Church

Butler, Pa., Nov. 16 (AP)—The Butler Trinity Lutheran church is going to have a brand new $1,100 heating system thanks to the ingenuity of the pastor and 110 of his parishioners.

Last June the Rev. Hudson M. Clements borrowed $900 from a Butler bank and distributed the money to 110 members of his church in amounts varying from $2 to $10. Mr. Clements said his plan was based on the Biblical parable of the talents.

The 26-year-old minister told the 110 to invest the money in any manner they saw fit and to bring in their capital and any profits.

Yesterday at morning services the 110 reported—with a total of $2,124, enough to pay off the $900 loan and buy a new heater for the church. A dentist, Dr. C. E. Miller, reported the largest return, $88 which he said was realized from an investment in alloys for dental fillings. Mrs. Lewis Kubrt brought in $64 with the report that she had baked and sold 48 pies, 52 dozen buns, 137 dozen cinnamon rolls, and one cake.

Guardsmen Check Plane; Pilot Dead

Indianapolis, Nov. 16 (AP)—National Guardsmen, Air Force personnel and State Police officers used a riot gun and dare-devil tactics to stop a runaway P-51 fighter plane on Sunday that circled crazily on Stout field runway.

A dead pilot, victim of a ground crash between his plane and another Mustang, was the ship's only occupant. He was Capt. Phillip Bonner, 28-year-old Indianapolis veteran of the second world war.

Col. Allison Maxwell of Lawrence, Ind., comm. of the 112nd Fighter Group of Indiana National Guard, said Capt. Bonner was killed in a ground collision with a plane piloted by Second Lt. Thomas C. Costin, 23, Indianapolis.

Capt. Bonner was the lead pilot as the two planes prepared for the takeoff on a routine training mission. He started down the runway but reduced his speed for an unknown reason. Lt. Costin, following at the normal interval, could not see ahead at ground level.

Chapter 18

Bella turned and ran up the block. Joe drew a deep breath. This was certainly the start of a swell evening. And everyone was staring. Mrs. Harrigan stood on her steps, arms akimbo.

"And since when, Joe Monahan, do you let that little spit-fire treat you like that? And I saw you beat up that Wayne Kahler that came after your Rosalie."

"And he got her, didn't he?" Joe hadn't meant to say it. The words just slipped out. Mrs. Harrigan, Ain't that just too bad."

"You have trouble with your women, don't you, Joe Monahan? Why don't you get married to a nice simple girl who'll make a real home for you and make you forget all your worries?"

He winked at her. "Have you anyone in mind, Mrs. Harrigan?"

"That I have."

"And so have I, too, Mrs. Harrigan. Ain't that just too bad?"

She burst out laughing as he intended her to do. It gave him a chance to continue on down the street. His mother, dressed in her best, was enthroned in the open window. She hailed him brightly.

"Didn't I see you and Bella coming down the street?"

"You didn't, Mom, but someone told you, so you also know Bella slapped my face. I don't think she likes me."

"She loves you. You can always tell it's love when girls smack."

He grinned at her and winked. "Don't you love me any more?"

"Come in and get out of that uniform."

"I can't, I'm on duty, Mom."

"No wonder Bella smacked you. You deserve it."

He came into the house and gave his mother a hug and kiss in boyish fashion. The fat woman clung to him and spoke quickly.

"See to Pat. He's getting drunk and I have a feeling in my bones that he's going to get into serious trouble this night."

He left her laughing, but his face was serious as he entered the dining room. A dozen men were crowded into the room, all drinking and milling about Pat as they did on party nights. But Pat himself was different tonight. Joe knew it from the tone of his voice without seeing him. He squeezed up to him and flung an arm over his broad shoulders.

"All ready to celebrate, Pat?"

"The man's rough face lighted up. 'Sure I'm glad to see you, boy. Will you tell these high-binders off for me. They're trying to tell me I won't be like our old parties because Rosalie won't be here to dance for us.'"

"Get a glass, Joe. Take mine. Pat's gonna sing The Rose of Tralee."

"That I am not," roared Pat. "I'll never sing again, especially that song."

Mulrooney slapped Pat's broad back encouragingly.

"Say your piece, Pat, and then we'll all have to go find our families."

The stevedore drew a deep breath. "I say we don't need no Rosalie nor nobody that don't want us."

"That's right, Pat." There was a murmur of approval.

"And what's more, this new dancin' hussy ain't our Rosalie at all and never was."

There was a dead silence. Mulrooney broke it gently. "Have you seen her Pat? We all did. We—"

"I don't need to see her!"

Gray C. and Mary E. McCleef, Gettysburg, sold to Curtis O. and Sarah B. Swope, same place, a property on York street.

"All right, Pat." Mulrooney was conciliatory. "You know best. But you got to sing one song for us later."

"Let's—have another drink around," cried Pat.

Joe was quick. "A song's better, Pat. Come Back to Erin."

The rough, drinking men stood around with tears welling up in their eyes as Pat sang, a little unsteadily at first and then with clearer and clearer voice. Joe knew he had won. There would be no quarrel now. The men would go home humming the sad song and eat the heavy meals waiting for them. Pat would drink no more until after he had sung again tonight, and then it wouldn't matter much. The danger was averted. He was suddenly happy without knowing just why.

When the song was over the men voiced approval of Pat and all his doings and melted away. Mulrooney was last to go and called back from the doorway.

"And suppose Rosalie does come to dance for us like always, what will you say then?"

Pat laughed. "You're a pest, Mulrooney. All I say is to tell her she don't belong to us and leave a brick at her. Now go home. If I'm to sing I got to pull myself together."

TRAFFIC KILLS NINE IN PENNA.; 4 OTHERS DIE

(By The Associated Press)

Nine of the 13 persons reported killed in accidents in Pennsylvania over the week-end lost their lives in traffic mishaps.

Three young war veterans, two of them brothers, rode to their deaths in an automobile which struck a six-inch-high cap rail of a pier and caromed into the Delaware river at Philadelphia. The victims were Robert B. Leafey, 21; his brother, Andrew, 25, and Fortunato Formosa, 27, all of Philadelphia.

In another Philadelphia traffic accident, Mrs. Helen Lukens, 50, was killed by an automobile while she was crossing a street.

Plane Crash Kills Two

A bride and groom of a month died in the crash of a private rented airplane in a gulley near Berwick. The dead were Jay Snyder and his wife, Phyllis, both 20, of Nescopeck.

A Mineola, Long Island, man, Delbert Earl Walton, 35, plunged to his death when the back door of a moving horse van unexpectedly flew open near Indiantown Gap.

John J. Kiss, 26-year-old Pittsburgh hunter, was found dead near Somerset. Police said he apparently shot himself accidentally. Daniel N. Heckert, 77, of Berksville, was killed in a collision between his auto and a truck. A coroner's jury said the accident was unavoidable.

Killed By Autos

Deputy Coroner Leroy Kaufman of Schuylkill county said Melvin Adams, 16, slipped from a stripping spillbank and accidentally fired a fatal bullet into his head. Kaufman said death was accidental. William C. Law, 61, superintendent of the Bickling Paper Co., Downingtown, was fatally injured when struck by an automobile as he stepped onto the Lincoln highway near his home. Leopold Burger, 79-year-old retired Paradise attorney, was struck and killed by a car as he crossed the Lincoln highway in front of his home. He was Lancaster county's 34th traffic fatality of the year.

Renew Efforts For Erie-Ohio Canal

Pittsburgh, Nov. 16 (AP)—Army engineers are renewing attempts to send plans for a proposed super canal project to Congress for consideration.

At a three-day hearing tomorrow at Soldiers' and Sailors' Memorial hall, arguments for and against the practicality of building the 105-mile Lake Erie-Ohio River canal will be waged.

The waterway would extend from Beaver, Pa., on the Ohio river to Ashtabula, Ohio, on Lake Erie. The cost of such a canal, which would take nine years to build, has been estimated at $439,000,000.

The Army calls it "The one last short waterway link to be built to complete this nation's inland waterway system."

SUES GOVERNMENT

Washington, Nov. 16 (AP)—Mrs. Madeleine duPont Ruoff sued the government today for return of more than $1,000,000 in property seized on the grounds she is a German citizen. This she denied. Mrs. Ruoff, daughter of the late Alfred I. duPont of Wilmington, Del., said she lost her American citizenship by a former marriage to a German. Although she later married another German, she has been readmitted to this country as an American citizen, she said.

DO STRAWBERRIES NEED MULCHING?

Strawberries are usually mulched in late fall for reasons considerably different from those involved in mulching most other food and ornamental plants. And unless these distinctions are clear in the grower's mind, mulching this crop may result in more injury than complete absence of winter protection. Therefore, to clarify the task of strawberry mulching it is necessary to observe a few simple but important facts about these plants. Fruiting habits, in fact, hold the major keys to the Why, When, and How of strawberry mulching.

The leaves of strawberry plants remain exceptionally tender and succulent until late summer or early fall. Even the slightest frost would likely kill them during this stage of growth. But with the arrival of shorter days of sunshine and cooler nights, the foliage becomes hardier and harder. By the time winter arrives the plants can withstand temperatures as low as 15 degrees above zero without damage. However, if the temperature drops to 15 degrees or lower before plants are hardened, or if it declines to zero over winter without snow blanketing the ground, severe injuries usually occur.

The crown of a strawberry plant reveals another phase of important observation. Around the first of September early varieties develop small fruit buds from the growing points in the crown. Late varieties make this change around October 10. By the end of October all fruit buds are quite fully developed into visible formations, which may be recognized by breaking open a vigorous crown. It is from these fall-formed fruit buds that flowers and fruits develop the next spring. It is to protect these that all mulching efforts are devised and employed.

Another phase of winter injury occurs among the plant roots, an action well known as heaving. This injury is usually—most severe—in heavier types of clay loam, due to the higher rate of water content in the soil. Heaving may occur, of course, even in light types of loam.

Also, a final phase of injury is worth mentioning. It is that caused when unprotected plants are covered with ice at a time when temperatures are low. Ice affords little or no protection comparable to that of snow.

What about mulching? If needed, when should it be applied?

Every grower should understand that mulches applied on strawberry plants too early may cause more damage than would result if no mulch were applied at all. On the other hand, too late mulching may leave the plants with numerous destroyed fruit buds.

Therefore, the grower must choose a time for the application after the fruit buds are developed and the plant thoroughly matured yet before any injury to the buds has been suffered. In this latitude this mulching date occurs sometime in late November in normal years. But here is a better time guide:

Postpone mulching until the temperature has dropped to 20 degrees F. or slightly lower and before it descends to 15 degrees. If a severe and sudden cold snap with 15-above temperatures is predicted before mid-November, mulch may be applied as early as October 31 or the first week of November.

Straw is perhaps the best mulching material, followed by Sudan grass or other hay. The mulch should not be so heavy as to smother the plant crowns. As soon as growth starts in the spring, mulch should be raked into the alleys or distributed to form a protective cushion around the plants. Left there the mulch will prevent weed growth, conserve moisture and furnish protection for the berries from soil contamination.

At prevailing rates for nitrogenous fertilizers there is approximately 8 million dollars' worth of nitrogen in the air over every acre of the earth's surface. How to capture it? Grow legumes.

According to surveys conducted by meat packing industries, only six out of every ten pigs fattened reach market. The other four are victims of accidents, neglect and other fatalities.

How big is our poultry industry? If all the feed consumed by American chickens and laying hens every year was loaded into railroad cars—40 tons to a car—it would constitute five freight trains reaching from New York to Chicago.

One hundred and forty-two million pounds of vegetable oils and animal fats were utilized for making linoleum, oilcloth and other floor coverings in 1947.

Experiments conducted over the last six months indicate that the house fly is building up resistance against DDT. Tests show that succeeding generations of flies require more DDT or stronger applications to cause death than in earlier stages of experiments. This amazing fact corresponds to what orchardists have discovered in the last twenty years—that codling moths are more immune to arsenicals now than they were when spraying was first employed against these pests.

It has been found that a hog can profitably utilize a larger variety of feeds than any other domesticated animal.

The potato, despite its Irish implications, is a native of South America. Yet it has traveled over the entire world since it was introduced into Europe about 400 years ago. It is now one of man's major food crops. The world crop amounts to around 8 billion bushels annually—enough to cover a 160-acre farm

MARCH OF DIMES HELPING 110,000

New York, Nov. 16 (AP)—An estimated 110,000 infantile paralysis patients have been assisted financially through the March of Dimes during its eleven years.

The total, including about 20,000 during 1948, was reported today by Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, medical director of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

The report was prepared for the opening session of the fourth annual conference of state advisers on women's activities. The four-day conference, attended by more than 100 women representatives of the National Foundation from all states and also women's club leaders, will discuss the severe polio outbreaks in 1948 and plan for the 1949 March of Dimes.

"So long as research has not arrived at the final solution, patients are our primary job," Dr. Van Riper said. He estimated that $40,000,000 of March of Dimes funds has been spent in eleven years for medical care.

Baltimore, Nov. 16 (AP)—The Baltimore & Ohio railroad declared today a dividend of $1 a share on its preferred stock. The first dividend it has paid since 1931. President Roy B. White announced the action of the board of directors at the opening of the 122nd annual meeting of stockholders.

One of the explanations of our heavy imports of wool is found in the statistical fact that our farms had 975 sheep per 1,000 of our total population in 1870 and only 242 sheep per 1,000 at the beginning of the present year.

NEW BABE WILL RULE CHANGED
GREAT BRITAIN

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

The way this worried, grumpy old world of ours has been thrilling and chuckling over the birth of Princess Elizabeth's baby, I guess we don't need to worry about humanness being dead.

News bulletins literally circled the globe to record the event.

England herself is in a state of delirious joy. It is one of the greatest celebrations of its kind Britain has known.

And what is the significance of all this? Well, several points strike me as worth comment. First off, although the Bolshevik upheaval has seen the disappearance of several more monarchies, we find English royalty apparently at the peak of popularity—and this despite the fact that the country has a Socialist government.

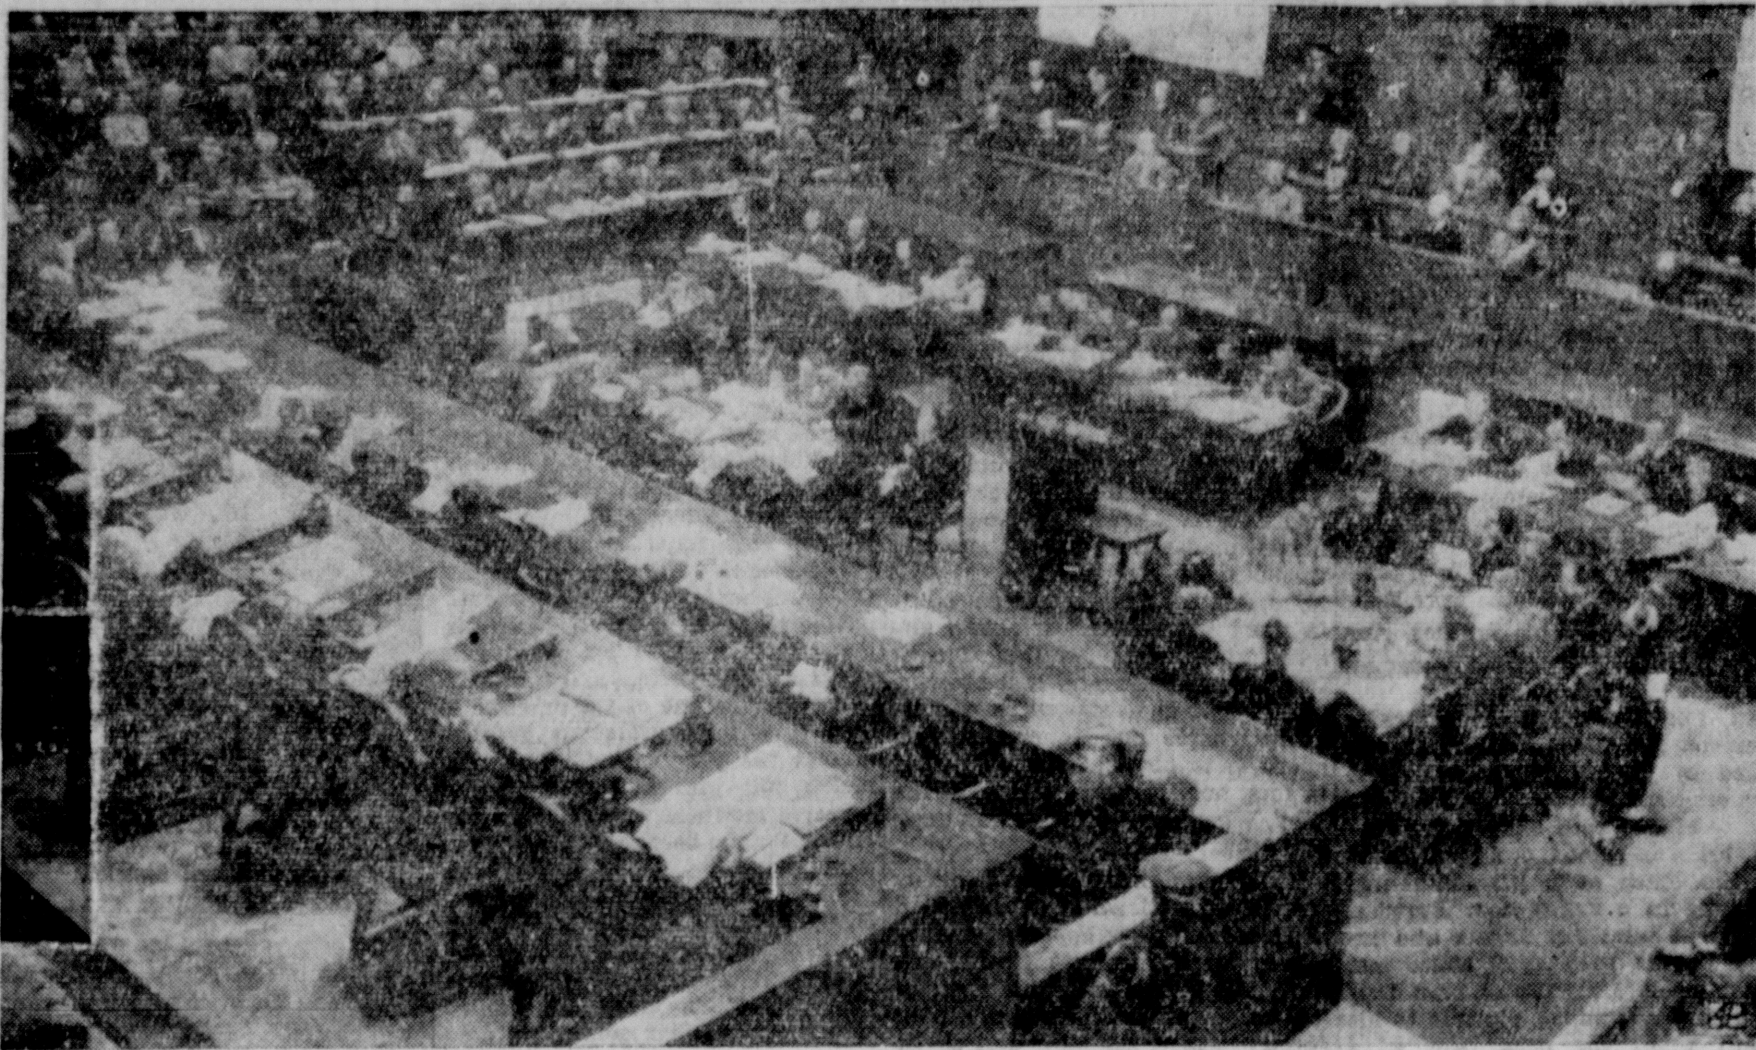

England Is Changing

However, England is changing and one suspects that it will be quite a different country over which the Prince of Edinburgh will rule if he comes to the throne many years hence. Trying to look ahead I should say that he may well preside over a middle-of-the-road Democracy in which the class inequalities have been eliminated.

The nobility will be stream-lined. Long before then the House of Lords will have been reformed, and likely will be composed of elected representatives instead of hereditary lords as at present.

As for the kinship, that already is symbolic. Of course the king has much influence by virtue of his position and wide knowledge of the empire, but he is subject to the will of his people.

And finally, if and when the Prince of Edinburgh is called to the throne he probably will be symbolic head of quite a different British commonwealth of nations. The commonwealth thus far has been basically Anglo-Saxon but already is being modified to include other races which now make up the various parts of the empire or, like India, have until recently been a part of the empire.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the Rev. and Mrs. Reynolds.

The next meeting will be held on Monday, December 20, at the home of the Rev. J. H. Ehlers, Hanover. The Rev. Archie C. Rohrbaugh of New Oxford, will discuss "Camp Michaux," which is the religious education camp near Pine Grove Furnace, which is leased and operated co-jointly by the Reformed and Presbyterian churches.

J. W. Bringham, Gettysburg, appeared before Justice of the Peace Howard G. Blocher on Monday afternoon and withdrew the information which had been filed on Saturday, November 6, against John Burgoon, South Queen street, Littlestown, charging him with hit and run driving. Bringham then filed a new information charging Burgoon with a less serious count under the same act, alleging that he failed to leave his name and address after striking an unattended, parked machine. Burgoon pleaded guilty and paid a $25 fine and costs of $3.80.

Miss Betty Eyler was the leader, who discussed the topic, "But I am not Prejudiced." Maynard S. Barnhart, Jr., was in charge of the business. The meeting closed with a song, "Dear Lord and Father of Mankind" and the Christian Endeavor benediction. Robert DeGroff will be the leader next Sunday evening.

GAS TAX JUMP
CONTROVERSIAL

Harrisburg, Nov. 16 (AP)—Should Pennsylvania's four-cent tax on gasoline be boosted to six cents a gallon?

This question promised today to become one of the most vexatious faced by the 1949 Legislature.

Gov. James H. Duff and State Highways Secretary Ray P. Smock have said it is one the Legislature must answer affirmatively if the state's highway building program is to continue at its present scale.

"There isn't a section of Pennsylvania that doesn't need new highways," Smock said after noting the commonwealth has spent some $210-

000,000 since World War II on construction and widening.

This year the state, drawing down on funds piled up during the war, federal aid and current revenue, expect its construction expenditures to run to the record-making total of $107,000,000. But in the next fiscal year the amount available for improvements will be only $66,250,000.

A two-cent boost in the tax, however, would bring in another $37,500,000-a year more, making $103,750,000 available for new roads.

The Democrats, who may have the balance-of-power on any taxes with their 91 votes in the state House of Representatives, have taken no stand on the issue.

COURT UPHOLDS
PICKETS' RIGHTS

Media, Pa., Nov. 16 (AP)—The right to picket is guaranteed by the Constitution of the United States, a three-judge panel in Delaware county held yesterday.

The ruling came on an appeal from an injunction granted following a ruling by the Pennsylvania Labor Relations board forbidding picketing of the Imperial hotel in Chester as unconstitutional.

The state board said the pickets were not employed by the hotel and thus violated the state Labor Relations Act banning picketing by non-employees.

Judge Henry S. Eweney wrote in an opinion that "Freedom of Speech is constitutionally guaranteed and the carrying by a picket of a sign is a method of conveying information to the public."

The Chester hotel was not struck at the time of the picketing. The signs carried by members of Local 677, AFL Bartenders, Hotel and Restaurant Employees Union, urged the 14 workers at the hotel to strike last March. The workers had no union contract and none of the hotel employees were union members, the court was told.

The jurists did not rule on the constitutionality of the state act. Recently, the Mercer county court in a similar case ruled against the law and state labor board spokesman said the decision would be appealed to the state Supreme court. It has not been filed yet.

GOP Senators To Caucus On Nov. 19

Harrisburg, Nov. 16 (AP)—Republican State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor today called a meeting of the Republican members of the state Senate for Friday, November 19, at Hershey to organize for the 1949 session of the state Legislature.

Taylor said the caucus of the 35 GOP members of the upper branch will be closed.

The group is expected to name its candidates for Senate president and elect a floor leader and caucus chairman. In addition, it will pick the GOP choices for the top-ranking Senate jobs such as secretary librarian and clerk.

Taylor is the present Senate president and Sen. O. J. Trallman of Allentown, is the majority leader. The caucus chairman is vacant. Taylor said he called the meeting earlier than usual this year so that the selection of committee membership can be made promptly.

Boy, 14, Shoots His Brother By Accident

West Chester, Pa., Nov. 16 (AP)—Aiming at a rabbit, a 14-year-old boy accidentally shot and killed his 12-year-old brother on a farm near here, Coroner Cooper Bishop reported.

Bishop said the victim of yesterday's shooting Clyde Leon Fellenbaum, received the full discharge from an old 12-gauge shotgun in the chest.

The brother, Vernon, told police he called to Clyde to get out of the way. But, he said, the gun fired before he got it to his shoulder.

Bishop issued a verdict of accidental death. He said there would be no inquest.

In the face of the heavy run, trading dulled of the current grass season. Salable supply included the equivalent of 62 loads of slaughter steers, mainly medium and good grade, short fed offerings and grassers, 4 loads of heifers and 19 loads of stocker and feeder steers. Balance of the run was principally cows.

Scattered early sales of slaughter steers declined 50c. from last Thursday's trading level but later sales fell $1 lower with some spots off more than $1. Numerous loads and lots carried bids of more than a $1 decline and some salesmen reported they had been unable to obtain bids on some cattle at 1 p. m. ters, to $17. Cows shared the decline suffered by steers. Opening trading on a mostly 50c. lower basis but later dealings ruled 50c. to $1 lower with some scattered sales showing more than a dollar loss. Odd lots of good grade young cows, $20-21.50; common and medium, $17.50-21.50; old cows, $17.50-20; canners and cutters, $13-15.50. A few steers, $21-25; odd early. Clearance in the cow division incomplete at 1 p. m. and a rather large holdover was expected. Prices for bulls were fully 50c. lower on all weights and grades. Beef bulls scarce but good sausage, $22-24.50; common and medium, $19.50-21.50; odd early. Broader demand noted for stocker and feeder cattle than for slaughter classes but the market suffered declines. Losses generally 50c. and largely in sympathy with the decline in slaughter cattle prices. Medium and good, $24-27; including several lots of 1,094-1,185-pound suitable for short term feeding, $25.10-26; common and medium, $20-23.50; a few of good, $24-32; 2-year stockers, $26-26.25.

CALVES—Trading moderately active on under 300-pound calves and on vealers, very slow on heavier weights. Prices generally steady on all weights. Good and choice slaughter calves and vealers moved seaward, $25-32. Including good 300-350-pound, $25. The top, $32. Common and medium, $20-26, including over 300 pounders, $20-22. Odd culs, $14 and below. Several over 300-pound unsold at a late hour and prospects pointed to a moderate holdover these weights.

HOGS—Prices dropped 75c. below last Friday's dealings but under 150-pound offerings, scarce and on a 25-75c. lower basis. Around 3 double decks of sorted, mostly choice 200-210-pound barrows and gilts, $23-27.50, but most of the locally produced good and choice 180-250-pound barrows and gilts, $22-25; 22.75; 250-275 pounds, $21.75-22.25; 275-300 pounds, $21.75-22.75; 300-350 pounds, $20.25-20.75; 350-400 pounds, $19.25-19.75; over 400 pounds, $18-18.50; 120-140 pounds, $19-20; 140-160 pounds, $20.75-21.75; 160-180 pounds, $21.75; 22.75. Good and choice sows, 400 pounds and less, $18.25-18.75; 400-450 pounds, $17.25-17.75; heavier weights and odd stags, from $16.50. Emmitsburg

Emmitsburg — Mr. and Mrs. D. Nevin Martin, near Emmitsburg, announce the engagement of their daughter, Helen Elizabeth, to Howard E. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Brown, Ashboro, N. C. Miss Martin is a graduate of Towson State Teachers' college and is a teacher in the Emmitsburg elementary school. Mr. Brown is a graduate of North Carolina State college and is a chemical engineer for Spencer Kellogg and sons, Chicago.

Three new members were inducted last week into the local Lions club at a meeting held at the White House Inn following a turkey dinner. The new members are Edward Stull, Lumen Norris and Arthur Elder. Another member also was to be inducted but due to a death in the family was unable to attend. The meeting was called to order by President Herbert Roger, followed by invocation by Rev. Philip Bower and reading of the minutes of the previous meeting by Recording Secretary Dr. John Dillon. A large delegation from Fairfield and Smithsburg attended the meeting and extended invitations to the local Lions to visit their organizations in the near future. Guest speaker for the occasion was Coach John Law, of Mt. St. Mary's college, who gave an interesting and humorous talk. Mr. Law told of his experiences under the late Knute Rockne when he was captain of the football team in several of their victorious years. Coach Law was introduced by Dr. Dillon. Tickets for the annual Ladies' and Charter Night were distributed to those present.

Retain Tax Rate

The burgess and commissioners of Emmitsburg held their regular town meeting last week at the firemen's hall. It was decided at this meeting to retain the same tax rate as applied to last year. However, the sewer tax will be raised $1, with the general tax 35 cents and the bond tax 15 cents. Approximately $203.01 was realized at the PTA of St. Joseph's high school card party held recently in the school auditorium. Over 500 sandwiches were sold and coffee was donated and served by two representatives of the Louisiana Coffee company. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Keating and children, Jackie and Kathleen, of Chicago, were recent visitors at the home of Prof. and Mrs. Thomas Norris, near St. Anthony's. Mrs. Keating is the former Kathleen Norris.

PTA Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the PTA of Emmitsburg high school was held in the school auditorium recently. President D. L. Beagle, presided. Samuel Hays, chairman of the building committee, conducted a discussion of the work of his committee, and also concerning ways and means of transporting school students to out of town places for athletic events. A committee composed of Harry Wantz and Harry Troxel was appointed to investigate the need of playground equipment for the younger pupils of the school. It was reported that athletic equipment for the older students seems to be adequate for the present year. There is a lack of books in the library. During the meeting a collection was taken up from members present and $38 was raised to assist this work.

Mrs. Hazel Caldwell gave a report on a recent meeting of the PTA Council, made up of several county organizations, which met recently in Frederick. Mrs. Caldwell reported that Weldon Shank was a member of the County program committee and Samuel Hays was a member of the county building committee. Mrs. Lois Heller, chairman of the committee for the entertainment of school children, gave a detailed report of the committee's activities. She stated that plans have been made for a dance in the school auditorium on Friday evening, November 26 from 8 to 11 for the school students, and each will be permitted to invite one guest from outside the school. Mrs. Robert Daugherty and Mrs. Helen Walter are also members of this committee.

The chaperons for the dance will be principal Arvin Jones and Mrs. Jones, Dr. and Mrs. O. H. Stinson, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Fuss, Dr. and Mrs. D. L. Beagle, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McDonnell and Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Nail.

Prof. Jones led a discussion under the title "Why the School Should Have Athletics." Miss Mildred Trevett, music instructor, will be chairman for the December meeting which will be Tuesday, December 7. At the conclusion of the meeting a lunch was served by a committee consisting of Mrs. O. H. Stinson, Mrs. Herbert Neighbors, Mrs. Glenn Springer and Mrs. Doyle. Dr. Adolph M. Wasilfsky, professor at St. Joseph's college and chairman of the Middle Atlantic Catholic Broadcasters Association, announces a one-day session for the first Regional meeting of the association to be held at the Ursuline Academy in Wilmington, Del., on November 23. The Catholic Broadcasters association, which held its charter convention in Boston last July is an organization planned to secure exchange of ideas and practices among Catholic broadcasters in every radio activity.

LEWIS INSPECTS NEW FUEL PLANT

Library, Pa., Nov. 16 (AP) — John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, yesterday examined a pilot plant designed to turn coal into liquid and gaseous fuels and found it good.

Later, addressing a dinner of officials of the Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co., one of the sponsors of the plant, at Fairmont, W. Va., Lewis said:

"The great financial efforts of the company to increase not only its own earnings but those of its employees as well augurs well for the future stability and future strength of America."

Lewis also commended the company for providing safe working conditions at the plant.

Standard Oil of New Jersey is co-sponsor with Consolidation of the new project. After a year of tests, the $500,000 coal gasification and carbonization plant was opened for full-scale tests yesterday. About 50 tons of coal is being used daily.

The plant was opened publicly—with reservations. Anyone was allowed to be present for the ceremonies marking the first full-tests. Photographers, however, were halted at the door of the plant indicating the process, as advertised, was still secret.

ance are three "ins" that will put you "out" of the useful class in your service club," he declared.

Monday's meeting opened with the invocation by Dr. R. S. Saby of the Rotary club. Group singing was led by Paul Ecker, Rotarian, with Mrs. George F. Eberhart, a Soroptimist, at the piano. The guest speaker was presented by D. E. Hess, president of the Lions.

Chairman Swope thanked the service clubs in behalf of the Freedom Train committee for participating in the Re-Dedication Week program and presented these guests: Judge W. C. Sheely, Burgess C. A. Heiges, honorary chairman of the Freedom Train committee, and Paul L. Roy, its secretary.

Give Freedom Pledge

At the conclusion of Senator Burkholder's address, Mr. Swope outlined the program of events for the remainder of the week, climaxing with the showing of the Freedom Train here on Friday and Saturday and the opening exercises Friday morning when Attorney General Tom Clark will be the principal speaker.

The program closed with the assembly repeating in unison the Freedom Pledge. The group then sang "God Bless America" and adjourned. There were 51 Rotarians, 12 Soroptimists and 73 Lions present in addition to guests.

It was announced that next Monday evening the Lions club will hold a ladies' night program at Trinity Reformed church.

UNION SEALS OFF CANADIAN PORTS

(By The Associated Press)

Canadian ports were sealed off today as havens for ships which normally dock at New York.

Canadian affiliates of the AFL International Longshoremen's Union refused to handle such ships at Halifax, Montreal and St. John.

The strike of 65,000 longshoremen which has tied up east coast ports between Portland, Me., and Hampton Roads, Va., went into its seventh day without indications of immediate settlement. Sailing of the Queen Elizabeth for Halifax from Southampton, England, tomorrow was cancelled. The liner, America, was unable to sail on schedule from New York for Europe today.

The east coast strike resulted from a wage dispute.
